

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
March 10, 2006

*Media Advisory: To celebrate National Agriculture Week, March 19-25, the Wyoming Department of Agriculture asked various people and organizations around Wyoming to submit articles and pictures portraying Wyoming agriculture. These articles are available for print from the Wyoming Department of Agriculture. A complete list follows. If you would like to obtain copies of any or all of the following articles, please contact Lyndsay Griffin at lgriff@state.wy.us or (307) 777-7180. Thank you for your support of Wyoming Agriculture and National Agriculture Week.

- Wyoming Agriculture Day proclamation by Governor Freudenthal
- Celebrate Agriculture editorial from Director of Agriculture John Etchepare
- Ag Day Editorial By U.S. Senator Craig Thomas
- Ag Day Editorial by U.S. Senator Mike Enzi
- BLM's Wild Horse Management Program
- ASI Works for the U.S. Sheep Industry
- Twenty-nine Ways To Love Lean Beef
- Nutrition, Taste combine in Health Beef Cookbook
- Wyoming's Rural Values: Alive and Thriving
- Private landowners find a for conservation
- The Importance of Federal Livestock Grazing in Wyoming
- Celebrating Agriculture in a Changing Farm Structure
- Landowners & Noxious Weeds in Wyoming
- Global Climate Change Research at the USDA-ARS
- Pole Mountain Grazing Association
- The offer you can't refuse (eminent domain)
- National forests – the fountainhead of Wyoming agriculture
- If We Stick to Core Values, Sky's the Limit for U.S. Agriculture
- Gillette FFA
- Hard Red Winter Wheat Exports Outpace Last Year
- Nigeria is world leader in U.S. wheat exports
- Wyoming Agricultural Business Association
- Young Farmer and Rancher "Ag Books for Kids" in second year
- Agriculture: Reason to Celebrate
- Grassbanks: A New Tool for Conservation
- Wyoming "Cowboys" Play Role in State's History
- When it's Springtime in Wyoming
- USDA Rural Development Grants Available for Value-Added Agriculture Products
- Barley Boosts Heart Health
- Cubin Co-Sponsors Bill to Protect Livestock Producers
- Natural Resource District installs escape ramps in stock water tanks
- Department of Agriculture Helps Wyoming Commodity Growers Feed the World
- UW grad student has good news for regional sugar beet farmers
- Wyoming farmers could help fuel demand for biodiesel crops
- Office of State Lands and Investments
- Teachers Learn in the Outdoors
- Wyoming agencies eyeing duplication of services uses UW CES educator as facilitator
- UW helps produce booklet detailing if labeling, certification right for producers
- UW CES educators making sure board development is not bored development
- Food safety in unlimited space may depend upon micro world test
- Natural resource experts lend expertise to small acreage owners in Barnyards & Backyards magazine
- New position coordinates 4-H contests, conferences
- UW Cooperative Extension Service assists Wamsutter development effort
- UW grad student researches Wyoming exurban landowners
- UW specialists explain how crop insurance options can help ease risks
- UW spreadsheet helps determine impact of higher fuel prices on ag operations
- UW study finds Wyoming cattle producer response varies to drought
- The Importance of the Wyoming Business Council's Agribusiness Division
- Age and Source Verification program kicks off
- New L.E.A.D. fellows are named for Class IX
- Small Acreage Education in Converse County

###